

Remembering Barbara Stanwyck: The George Collection

Barbara Stanwyck was one of the most iconic actresses of Hollywood's Golden Age. Her career spanned over six decades, and she starred in over 80 films. Stanwyck was known for her versatility, playing a wide range of roles from femme fatales to strong-willed heroines. She was also a pioneer for women in Hollywood, both on and off screen. In 1952, she became the first woman to receive the American Film Institute's Life Achievement Award.

The George Collection is a private collection of Barbara Stanwyck memorabilia that includes over 1,000 items, including photographs, scripts, costumes, and personal belongings. The collection was assembled over a period of 40 years by George Mitchell, a lifelong fan of Stanwyck. Mitchell donated the collection to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in 2017. The collection is now on display at the Academy Museum of Motion Pictures in Los Angeles.
